

ÄrztInnen für eine gesunde Umwelt (ÄGU)

Activity report 2016

This is a summary of the oral report given at the DB meeting in February 2017. Example issues of our journal were distributed at the meeting.

ÄGU is the Austrian affiliate of ISDE. We constantly have around 300 paying members. We focus on translational science and environmental health education. One of our main activities is the publication of a quarterly journal (German language) that is well recognized in Austria.

Policy makers, media, and general public turn to us with questions and problems. Thus we have to cover a very broad field of expertise. But our main environmental health themes are:

- Chemicals
- (Road) traffic
- Electromagnetic fields
- Air quality

We conduct own scientific research and we are connected within European networks.
